Stay Ahead with Abricto's Expert Security Solutions

COMPANY

Intellicure is a leading medical software company based in The Woodlands, TX, specializing in wound care solutions. Their flagship products, IntellicureEHR and the Intellicure Wound Care App are designed by clinicians to enhance workflow efficiency and deliver evidence-based care.

SITUATION

Due to stringent healthcare regulations, Intellicure faced significant security challenges. They frequently received detailed security questionnaires from hospitals, requiring comprehensive insights into their application security and data safety for physical and digital environments. Internally, they needed validation and ongoing assurance that their security measures were robust, especially as they continually developed new capabilities.

Despite their skilled team, they needed a more external perspective to identify potential oversights and maintain comprehensive security. Their complex system, with over 500 resources behind a simple front-end, highlighted the need for a systematic approach to managing and securing all their assets.

SOLUTION

We were engaged to provide AppSec as a Service, addressing the company's need for a holistic and strategic security approach. Our team brought a depth of knowledge, offering comprehensive application security assessments beyond just penetration testing. We took the time to understand Intellicure's specific needs and goals, aligning our services accordingly.

Our implementation process included proactive, regular assistance and an in-depth onboarding phase, where we integrated our services into Intellicure's Azure environment. Our tools provide detailed dashboards and visibility into security challenges, enabling Intellicure to manage its complex system effectively and address issues systematically.

RESULTS

Our collaboration greatly strengthened Intellicure's security posture, ensuring seamless compliance with industry standards. Through thorough assessments and proactive engagement, we swiftly resolved vulnerabilities and a few security misconfigurations, enhancing their ability to tackle security audits and client questionnaires quickly.

Matt Pine, CEO of Intellicure, emphasized the impact of our partnership: "I know our technical team no longer second-guesses our security." This profound peace of mind empowers Intellicure to focus on its core activities with confidence in its robust security framework.

“ Abricto’s dashboard approach has significantly improved our visibility into security challenges. They help cut through the alert fatigue and ensure we focus on what truly matters, which has been a game-changer for us. ”

David Walker, CTO

“ When we encountered a security incident, Abricto's team was on a call with us within minutes, helping us think through the issue and providing a solution. Their responsiveness and expertise validated our decision to work with them. ”
